

RMT and its product TrackWeight BRT5 win the Best Onboard Weighing Systems 2024 award

Blainville, April 17, 2024 – RMT Equipment is proud to announce that it has won honors in the Best Onboard Weighing Systems category at the recent Weighing Review Awards 2024. This award recognizes the excellence of the TrackWeight BRT5 scale, designed and developed by RMT to address specific axial weight overloads in the transportation industry.

RMT's BRT5 scale ensures efficient load management by combining axle and total weighing, thereby helping to avoid costly fines related to overloading. Its connectivity allows for remote truck load tracking or even self-loading via the TrackMobile mobile application. Thanks to investment in research and development, RMT also plans to enhance the connectivity of its onboard truck and semi-trailer scale with new features to come. The BRT5 also integrates a raised dump sensor into its system for vocational trucks, alerting the driver in real time. Thus, if the truck exceeds a speed of more than 10 km/h with the dump raised, an audible and visual alert on the screen appears along with a flashing red light.

"We are honored to receive this award for our TrackWeight BRT5 scale designed for trucks and semi-trailers. This recognition demonstrates our international commitment to innovation and the quality of our product in the field of onboard weighing systems," says Marc Lefebvre, President of RMT Equipment. "We warmly thank our customers and partners for their continued trust and support."
